

THE NARCOTIC DRUGS AND PSYCHOTROPIC SUBSTANCES ACT, 1985

INTRODUCTION

The statutory control over narcotic drugs was being exercised under The Opium Act, 1857, The Opium Act, 1878 and The Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930. The provisions in these enactments were found to be inadequate because of the passage of time and developments in the field of illicit drug trade and drug abuse at national and international level. To consolidate and to amend the existing laws relating to narcotic drugs a comprehensive legislation was considered to be necessary. Accordingly the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Bill was introduced in the Parliament.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The statutory control over narcotic drugs is exercised in India through a number of Central and State enactments. The principal Central Acts, namely, the Opium Act, 1857, the Opium Act, 1878 and the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 were enacted a long time ago. With the passage of time and the developments in the field of illicit drug trade and drug abuse at national and international level, many deficiencies in the existing laws have come to notice, some of which are indicated below:

- (i) The scheme of penalties under the present Acts is not sufficiently deterrent. In view of the challenge of well organized gangs or smugglers, the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 provides for a maximum term of imprisonment of 3 years with or without fine and 4 years imprisonment with or without fine for repeat offenders. Further, no minimum punishment is prescribed in the present law as a result of which drug traffickers have been some times let off by the courts with nominal punishment. The country has for the last few years been increasingly facing the problem of illicit traffic of drugs coming mainly from the Asian neighbouring countries and destined mainly to Western countries.
- (ii) The existing Central enactments provide for instituting the offices of a number of important Central enforcement agencies like Narcotics, Customs, Central Reserve, etc., with the power of investigation of offences under the said laws.
- (iii) Since the enactment of the fivefold three Central Acts, law enforcement internationally in the field of narcotics control has evolved through various international treaties and protocols. The Government of India has been a party to these Treaties and conventions which entail several obligations which are not covered in any way partly covered by the present Acts.
- (iv) During recent years new drugs of addiction which have come to be known as psychotropic substances have appeared on the scene and pose serious problems to national governments. There is no encompassed how to exercise effective control over psychotropic substances in India in the manner envisaged in the Convention on Psychotropic Substances, 1953 to which India has also acceded.

2. In view of what has been stated above, there was an urgent need for the enactment of a comprehensive legislation on narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances which, inter alia, would consolidate and amend the existing laws relating to narcotic drugs, strengthen the existing controls over drug abuse, considerably enhance the penalties particularly for trafficking offences, make provisions for exercising effective control over psychotropic substances and make provisions for the implementation of international conventions relating to narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances to which India has become a party.

3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

ACT 61 OF 1985

The Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Bill having been passed by both the Houses of Parliament, received the assent of the President on 26th September, 1985 at which time Shri Bhaagat PHILLAI, SECRETARY, LEGAL AND PSYCHOTROPIC SUBSTANCES ACT, 1985 (61 of 1985) (Date of Enactment: 12.11.1985).

iii) It may be noted that clause (c) of section 2 (11)(a) is independent of clause (a) and (b) in the definition of a necessary provision. It would include an activity of distribution; E. Postbox v. State of Karnataka, 1991 (1) 115 SC 355.

Q1: The definition of the term "manufacture" as contained in section 32(1) is an exclusive one. Where the definition is an inclusive definition, the word not only covers the ordinary, popular and usual sense where there could be applicability but it also bears an extended meaning likewise. *E. (4) I. It is true that opium is substance which once seen and could not serve the function because opium produces a characteristic appearance and a very strong and characteristic scent. It is possible for people to identify opium without having to subject the product to a chemical analysis. The only when opium is in a mixture so diluted that its essential characteristics are not contraindicated or capable of being appreciated by the senses then a chemical analysis may be necessary. Supreme Court v. State of Ohio, 1961, 38 U.S.W.2d 402, 21 P.2d 1.

4270. Punishment for contravention of section 34A. Whoever contravenes the provision of section 34A shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than three years but which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine.

38. Punishment for attempts to commit offences. Whoever attempts to commit any offence punishable under this Chapter or to cause such offence to be committed and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of the offence shall be punishable with the punishment provided for the offence.

COMMENTS

There is a thin line between the preparation for doing a punishable offence and attempt to commit the offence. Undoubtedly a culprit first intends to commit the offence then makes preparation for committing it and thereafter attempts to commit the offence. If the attempt succeeds he has committed the offence. If it fails, he is said to have attempted to commit the offence. Attempt to commit an offence therefore, can be said to begin when the preparations are complete and the culprit commences to do something with the intention of committing the offence and until such a step prior to the commission of the offence. The moment he commences to do an act with the necessary intention he commences his attempt to commit the offence. Atiyas and Ghose v. State of Bihar, AIR 1951 SC 1692.

29. Punishment for abetment and criminal conspiracy. (1) Whoever abets, or is a party to a criminal conspiracy to commit an offence punishable under this Chapter, shall, whether such offence be or be not committed in consequence of such abetment or a pursuance of such criminal conspiracy, and notwithstanding anything contained in section 116 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), be punishable with the punishment provided for the offence.

(2) A person abets, or is a party to a criminal conspiracy to commit, an offence, within the meaning of this section, who, in India abets or is a party to the criminal conspiracy or the commission of any act in a place without and beyond India, which—

- (a) would constitute an offence if committed within India, or
- (b) under the laws of such place is an offence relating to narcotic drugs or psychotropic substances having all the legal conditions required to constitute it such an offence the same as or analogous to the legal conditions required to constitute it an offence punishable under this Chapter, if committed within India.

COMMENTS

When a person possessing B.O.D. drug does not carry it himself but causes it to cross other person for carriage and while the person carries it knowingly, then the offence of the offence will be the person who transports the drug and the person who causes it to be so would be the abettor of the offence of transporting Narcotics. The State (1972) 81 Cr 1174.

39. Preparation. If any person makes preparation to do or omits to do anything which constitutes an offence punishable under any of the provisions of Sections 19 (1) and 27A and for offences involving intentional supply of a narcotic drug or psychotropic substance and from the circumstances of the case, it may be reasonably inferred that he was determined to carry out his intention to commit the offence but had been prevented by circumstances independent of his will, he shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than one-half of the maximum term of imprisonment, but which may extend to one-half of the maximum term of imprisonment, with which he would have been punishable in the event of his having committed such offence, and also with fine which shall not be less than one-half of the minimum amount (if any), or twice with which he would have been punishable, but which may extend to one-half of the maximum amount of fine with which he would have ordinarily (that is to say in the absence of special reasons) been punishable in the event aforesaid:

Provided that the court may, for reasons to be recorded in the judgment, impose a higher fine.

(2) For the purpose of this section, a fact is said to be proved only when the Court believes it to exist beyond a reasonable doubt and not merely when its existence is established by a preponderance of probability.

COMMENTS

The presumption of a culpable mental state of accused arises only if the evidence proved beyond reasonable doubt that accused had the knowledge that results caused by him was being used for manufacturing narcotic drugs or. State of Orissa, (1981) 1 SCC 666; (1981) 2 SCC 202; (1981) 3 SCC 217; 2001 Cr. COMMENTS

(1) It has been repeatedly stated that NPS cases should be tried as early as possible because such cases normally attract an ad rem order. See M. Paul v. State of Gujarat, AIR 2009 SC 2172.

Both these tests must be satisfied before bail can be granted. See Satish Singh v. State of Gujarat, (1975) Cr LJ 1737 (P & L).

(6) After a search is conducted under sub-section (5), the officer shall record his reasons for such belief which necessitated such search and within seventy-two hours send a copy thereof to his immediate officer in superior.

COMMUNITIES

(7) A prior communication or a right to talk under section 50(1) of the Act is the second step to protect the very purpose of section 50. Communication of the said right to a person who is about to be searched is not an empty formality. It has a purpose. Most of the offences under the Act carry stringent punishment and, therefore, the prescribed procedure has to be scrupulously followed. There are minimum safeguards available to an accused against the possibility of false investigation. The communication of this right has to be clear unambiguous and individual. The accused must be made aware of the existence of such a right. The right would be of little significance if the necessary 'know' is not able to exercise it for want of knowledge about its existence. If our communication of the right may not be clear or correct, then, it may cause confusion. It may result in denying the right. Therefore, accused must be individually informed that under section 50(1), he has a right to be searched before a Gazetted Officer or before a nearest Magistrate. State of Rajasthan v. Ramkrishna, AIR 1971 SC 1204.

(8) Provisions of section 50 of the Act do not apply to law guards in sectors where the article was not being carried on. See State of Rajasthan v. Ramkrishna (2011) 11 SCC 559, 2011 (3) SLJ 638, 2011 (3) SCJ 107, 137.

1. Inserted by Act 2 of 2000, sec. 21, para. 2-4 (2000).

2. Inserted by Act 2 of 2000, sec. 21, para. 2-4 (2000).

(ii) Section 50 can be invoked only in cases where the dangerousness/NOTB substance is recovered as a consequence of the body search of the accused. In case, the recovery of the narcotic is made from a container being carried by the individual, the provisions of section 50 would not be attracted. Shanti Arora v. State of Punjab, AIR 2011 SC 944; 2011 3 SCC 521; JT 2011 (2) SC 176 (2011 2 SC 174); 2011 Cr. LJ 1738.

(iii) Section 52 is applicable only where search of a person is involved and said section is not applicable not attracted where no search of a person is involved. Thus search and recovery from a bag, brief case, suitcase, etc. does not come within the purview of section 52 of the Act. Amr Singh v. State of Karnataka, 2010 3 SCC 746; JT 2010 (2) SC 173; 2010 3 SCALE 352.

(iv) The safeguards mentioned in section 50 are intended to serve a dual purpose — to protect the person against false accusation and frivolous charges as also to lend credibility to the search and seizure conducted by the empowered officer. Shankar Achin Karanra v. State of Kerala, 2011 4 SCC 214.

(v) A contraband seized as a result of search and seizure made in contravention of section 51 cannot be used to form the basis of material prosecution or "a contraband on the part of from whom the contraband had allegedly been seized in a illegal manner." "Substantive possession" of the contraband is the sine qua non for conviction. Under the Act and the law has to be established by the prosecution beyond a reasonable doubt. Shankar Achin Karanra v. State of Kerala, AIR 1994 SC 244.

50A. 51. Provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 to apply to warrants, arrests, searches and seizures. The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) shall apply, in so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, to all warrants issued and arrests, searches and seizures made under this Act.

52. Disposal of persons arrested and articles seized. —(1) Any officer arresting a person under section 41, section 42, section 43 or section 44 shall, as soon as may be, inform him of the grounds for such arrest.

(2) Every person arrested and article seized under warrant issued under sub-section (1) of section 41 shall be forwarded without unnecessary delay to the Magistrate by whom the warrant was issued.

(3) Every person arrested and article seized under sub-section (2) of section 41, section 42, section 43 or section 44 shall be forwarded without unnecessary delay to

- (a) the officer-in-charge of the nearest police station, or
- (b) the officer empowered under section 58.

(3) The authority or officer to whom any person or article is forwarded under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) shall, with all convenient despatch, take such measures as may be necessary for the disposal according to law of such person or article.

COMMENTS

If a person is not informed of the grounds of his arrest, his brother Jaganann may become minded to commit suicide, but it cannot be said that his initial arrest itself became illegal. Shankar Achin v. State of Kerala, 1994 (1) FCR 44.

Disposal of seized narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances.— 9.] The Central Government may, having regard to the hazardous nature, vulnerability to theft, scheduling, consistency of proper storage space or any other relevant considerations, in respect of any narcotic drugs, psychotropic substances, controlled substances or conveyances, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify such narcotic drugs, psychotropic substances, controlled substances or conveyances or class of narcotic drugs, class of psychotropic substances, class of controlled substances or conveyances, which shall, as soon as may be after their seizure, be disposed of by such officer and in such manner as that Government may, from time to time, determine after following the procedure hereinafter specified.]
